

From: "Terral BlackStar" <03blackstar@gmail.com>
To: "gem3intucson" <gem3intucson@q.com>
Sent: Tuesday, July 7, 2015 7:21:37 PM

Hi Sheldon:

Thank you for sharing. Here is the truth about McCanney for anyone interested: The 2011 Orbit Cycle relative to the inbound Black Star now moving through the Virgo Constellation saw LUCUS appearing regularly on the John Moore Radio Shows where John continued tossing LUCUS softballs inciting the reply "Oh, yeah, ....". LUCUS was the self-proclaimed discoverer of the 188-day cycle that came to Revolution Radio to declare to everyone that I was a 'mudflap researcher,' even though we were very much on the same page including the 8.8 Chile Quake (3-inch earth axis shift) and the 9.0 Fukushima Quake on our Brown Dwarf/Black Star Event Timelines. LUCUS was apparently unaware of the fact that I had been doing radio shows at RevRadio for some time before he ever showed up with quite a following. Time passes and the 7.1 Christchurch Quake from September 4, 2010 and the 7.3 Fiji Quake from September 15, 2011 were added to the 188-day cycle list with the Guerrero Quakes from March 20, 2012 coming up to continue the 188-day cycle predictions. The problem is that the next date on the 188-day cycle was September 26, 2012 and the same date that JR Moore presented as a 'warning date' along with August 17, 2012:

<http://beforeitsnews.com/space/2013/08/planetx-more-confirmation-john-moores-government-sources-say-nibiru-aug-17-sept-26-2012-2464254.html>

When did JR Moore know that his warning date was the same exact day as LUCUS' 188-day cycle date? September 26, 2012 was 'my' date for the Earth/Sun/Black Star backside-alignment quake event that turned out to be the 7.9 Aleutian Quake, again, on the 188-day cycle exactly as predicted. LUCUS suddenly left the scene to disappear completely from the Planet X/Nibiru/Black Star Map to be replaced by none other than James McCanney on the John Moore Radio Network where the desensitizing games continued through the period that Comet ISON took the stage becoming McCanney's mini solar system.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pWSAVPcte2Q>

Comet ISON turned out to be a dirty snowball (LOL) that broke apart near perihelion like many Oort Cloud comets and McCanney had to be embarrassed to the point of removing himself from the limelight of making these kinds of Planet X/Nibiru/Black Star predictions, which led me to believe he would be replaced by someone like a Richard Hoagland, or someone along those lines with NASA affiliations. The deal with McCanney is that he was hired all along by the lettered agencies (CIA) to desensitize the Sheeple, even if LUCUS turns out to be just another useful dupe/idiot running the disinformation project for free. McCanney and his lettered counterparts are useful tools for the House of Rothschild, the CFR, their Working Groups and the Denver-based CIA running threat assessment and contingency planning for defending the Underground Ark City Network. Just look at what McCanney's antics have done to the professing Planet X/Nibiru Movement getting all parties (I care nothing about what McCanney says about anything) in an uproar. Infighting between those running their own Planet X-style investigations is creating divisions and at the same time that the Black Star is retrograding from Virgo's Womb to Virgo's Head in preparation for the 'second birth' that coincides with the end of the coming Jade Helm 15 exercises.

McCanney and his back-and-forth commentary is a poison pill for the Movement orchestrated deliberately by the powers-that-be placing the feet of those following him these past two years in quicksand where anything you say makes your feet sink deeper and deeper into the abyss of non-credibility commentary. This is one good example of how counterintelligence gets the job done and you guys (John DiNardo, Sheldon and others following McCanney) are being duped by Rothschild-owned professionals running the intelligence and counterintelligence sides of the lettered agency psyop equation. You are much better off to get your feet planted in the SCIENCE told by the 'evidence' making your case without EVER depending on anyone with a reputation, name recognition, or anything along those lines being used against you and our efforts to inform others about what is definitely coming from space that is changing everything. The heliosphere has shrunk 25 percent in just the last decade. Right? The magnetosphere is weakening 10 times faster than previously thought. Meteor/fireball reports for 2008 were around 500, but now are almost 4000 for 2014. We have the seismic pattern that I am highlighting each week in the newsletters saying we are definitely in an earth change lull period until August 15th. Right? I know my research is right on. You have the choice of either placing your confidence and time in the SCIENCE saying that something is coming, or you can continue depending on personalities and those of reputation that are going to eventually turn around and stab you in the back just like McCanney, LUCUS and a list of others. All I can do is lead the horses to water. Drinking is up to you guys.

Thanks again for writing,

Terral