

Part 4) How C.I.A. Hypnotizes Mass Shooters

Washington, D.C. police chief, Charles Moose swallowed hard as he was about to read the carefully crafted hypnotic trigger words given to him by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency's assassin-conditioning team of psychiatric hypnotists. Chief Moose's words were to be broadcast far and wide, but were destined for the ears of the C.I.A.'s robotic human killing machines -- two unfortunate Black men, whom they were to later send to the execution chamber: These were the trigger words that would send the C.I.A.'s wind-up toys back to their hypnotic masters: "Like a Duck in a Noose."
