

Part 7) NatGeoTV: American BlackOut, a Lesson to Lessen Our Coming Misery

A nationwide electric power failure is realistically dramatized in this National Geographic television docu-drama. Also, it is being televised in late October and early November, synchronized to immediately precede a U.S. Government national power blackout drill. This planned coincidence shows that National Geographic TV is emotionally amplifying an apocalyptic government prophesy by Janet Napolitano, Director of Homeland Security, announcing that:

"a massive cyber attack and a natural disaster, the likes of which have never been seen before, are coming." [ABC-News]

How would government officials know of a cyber-attack conspiracy unless government officials are involved in such a criminal conspiracy?

Combine this apocalyptic federal prophesy with its companion TV docu-drama -- then combine that dual public panic stimulant with the federal drill simulating (or stimulating) the loss of electrical power, nationwide. Then consider its disturbing effect on the public psyche in conjunction with the fact that, in mid-2001, scary government predictions of an attack, and a prophetic TV dramatization (The X-Files "Lone Gunman" episode, depicting a passenger plane being crashed, by terrorists, into the World Trade Center), were followed by a federal drill at the World Trade Center on the morning of September 11th, conducted to coincide with the actual airplane attacks, in order to confuse and paralyze programmed defensive military routines! Voluminous forensic research over the past twelve years has proved that a criminal shadow government perpetrated these wholesale atrocities. These attacks were all too promptly and duplicitously blamed on the Arabs, in order to justify invasions and occupations of Arab nations, ongoing for twelve years now, with no end in sight.

Today, the big banksters appear to be preparing to collapse the dollar and revoke the right of depositors to take possession of their own savings. A highly publicized terrorist electric power failure, nationwide, would surely allow the big banksters to say,

"Oh well, those nasty Arab terrorists have disabled our computerized banking system, and that's why we cannot give you your money."

Furthermore, this massive technically complex operation to darken and deaden our entire nation of three hundred million people will so thoroughly fragment and paralyze the American people that they will be utterly helpless, and thus, unable to thwart this nationwide seizure of their life's savings by the big banking scoundrels, who have historically demonstrated a talent for such devious grand larceny -- in this case, the grandest of all grand larcenies.
