

Queen's Fleeing Underground Signals Earth Threats, Celestial or/and Nuclear

This appears to be a major blockbuster, folks!

I'm virtually certain that this story about palace repairs is a lie, considering the fact that I have been warning, now and then, for the past eight years, that we need to establish a QueenWatch, and a RockefellerWatch, and a BillGatesWatch, etc., because when the diabolical ruling elite begin to disappear, then get yourself prepared to shelter from nuclear fallout or/and meteor showers or/and any sort of Earthly disaster imaginable. This means that you need stored water, food, etc. Former radio talk show host, Alex Merklinger told me years ago that the Queen has purchased large tracts of land around Crestone, Colorado. The royal family's movements may soon be traceable to Colorado. Remember also that the London Daily Mail recently reported that the elaborate underground city in the bowels of Cheyenne Mountain, Colorado has suddenly become very active. Thanks to Sheldon Day for sending this link. JD
