

This Month USGovt's American BlackOut => Reality?

Past experience has shown that when the government executes a drill, that drill often goes live and becomes reality. In a few days, the government will execute a nationwide power blackout drill. I plan to spend this weekend buying non-perishable foods, and storing water in bottles from my local recycling center. I've already checked out my emergency generator. JD

"As the Langley Intelligence Group Network (Lignet.com) put it in a recent analysis: "If National Geographic's docu-drama is unrealistic about anything, it understates the threat by creating a scenario in which a nationwide blackout lasts just 10 days. Among seven U.S. government studies conducted since 2004, a consensus has emerged that the electric power industry is not prepared to cope with manmade or natural EMP (ElectroMagnetic Pulse) threats that could inflict a nationwide blackout lasting not days, but MONTHS or YEARS."

National Geographic TV is saying "It Will Happen."

The U.S. Government officially prophesies a nationwide power failure; not just a drill, but a real nationwide power failure.

Walmart, Safeway, Google, Bank of America, Coca-Cola, etc. are unplugging from the power grid because they fear that the grid may go down.
